

A LOOK INTO "NEF"

Mission Statement

The mission of the Foundation is to further the advancement of science and engineering in Africa. The Foundation hopes to achieve its mission by providing educational materials and essential tools necessary to advance educational institutions.

Goals Of The Foundation

Through its education assistance program, the Foundation strives to promote academic research in institutions.

The Foundation supports scholars pursuing a vast spectrum of professions. Funding also assists students at critical stages of their education.

Advancement of science and engineering is not limited to the continent of Africa. Other schools around the world may request for assistance. Assistance will be given based on need and available resources.

The board of directors reserves the right to decide which schools or institutions may benefit from the organization.

The Foundation assists professors and students with contacting institutions or colleagues in other countries. Students in need of internships are assisted with making the necessary contacts. In addition, professors seeking information about institutions abroad offering research opportunities are also aided.

NEF believes in global education and therefore communicates and exchanges information with other international education Foundations.

Over time, the NEF has reached agreements with other institutes to develop student internship programs in toxicology. In our determination to improve the quality of education and learning in Africa, NEF donates computers and other educational aids to universities and institutions in Africa. Institutions of higher learning that have benefited from our donations include the Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, Abia State University, Okigwe, The University of Ibadan, Nigeria; the United Methodist University (UMU), Monrovia, Liberia ; NEF Cameroon and others others.

In a bid to enhance research and education of African students, especially science majors, NEF, a
